

Co-founder of Winston & Strawn's WacoWatch Blog, Danielle Williams Discusses Trends in the Western District of Texas with Managing IP

FEBRUARY 16, 2024

Recently, Managing IP interviewed Danielle Williams, co-founder of Winston & Strawn's WacoWatch blog regarding trends in the Western District of Texas. As discussed in the article and on our WacoWatch blog, the Western District of Texas continues to be attractive to patent owners and Judge Albright continues to update his Order Governing Proceedings providing transparency to litigants.

In January, Judge Albright updated his Order Governing Proceedings, in particular giving guidance to litigants on how to prepare their cases for trial. "For those of us who are trying cases, it certainly gives us guidance at the outset of what we can expect from the court in terms of evidence and any kinds of limitations on that," she said. She noted that Winston tried a case in August in the Western District of Texas and the updates in the OGP are consistent with her experience in that trial, which was a complete defense win for Winston's client.

For more information on these topics, subscribe to our WacoWatch blog.

Read the full Managing IP article. (subscription required)

1 Min Read

Related Topics

Western District of Texas

Order Governing Procedures (OGP)

Related Capabilities

Patent Litigation

Financial Services Litigation

Related Professionals

Danielle Williams