The California HR Conference, produced by the Professionals In Human Resources Association (PIHRA), is the second largest regional conference for human resources professionals in the United States with more than 2,000 practitioners, presenters, and providers. Originally established in 1958 as the annual conference to serve HR professionals in the Greater Los Angeles Area, the conference was re-branded in 2013 to serve a broader California audience. At the conference, attendees connect with their peers and attend three days of sessions that provide continuing education with HR designation recertification.

Amanda Sommerfeld, co-chair of the Los Angeles labor and employment relations practice, attended on behalf of the firm.
