

U.S. Sanctions and Export Controls – Are You up to Speed and Prepared?

SEPTEMBER 9 AND SEPTEMBER 10, 2019

This summer's major headlines saw a series of drastic changes in U.S. export controls and economic sanctions. The rapidly evolving regulations and enhanced enforcement have created new challenges for businesses in the global compliance environment. The pace and frequency of developments have made international compliance more cumbersome than ever before.

Please join Winston & Strawn for an exclusive briefing and roundtable discussion on the current status of U.S. export control and sanction regimes, with a focus on various risk indicators, enforcement trends, and what companies with international exposure are doing to stay prepared and protected. We look forward to a lively discussion with local compliance and trade professionals on the challenges they are currently facing.

We are offering the program in two locations—Lake Bluff on September 9 and downtown Chicago on September 10.
