

The Nordic Sessions: U.S. Sanctions and Export Controls – Are You Up to Speed and Prepared?

OCTOBER 2, 2019

This summer's major headlines saw a series of drastic changes in U.S. export controls and economic sanctions. Due to the history of extraterritorial enforcement and the rapid evolution of U.S. regulations, Nordic businesses face new and significant enforcement risks. In the face of that risk, the pace and frequency of developments have made international compliance more cumbersome than ever before.

On October 2, 2019, Winston & Strawn hosted The Nordic Sessions – U.S. Sanctions and Export Controls – Are You Up to Speed and Prepared?, presented by partner Cari Stinebower. This exclusive webinar discussed the current status of U.S. export control and sanction regimes, with a focus on various risk indicators, enforcement trends, and practical guidance on what Nordic companies with international exposure are doing to stay prepared and protected.

NOTE: CLE credit is not available for listening to our pre-recorded webinars.

1 Min Read

Related Capabilities

International Trade

Transactions

Maritime & Admiralty

Related Professionals

Cari Stinebower