

VMware Senior Litigation Counsel & COO Discuss Racial Disparities in the Criminal Justice System with Author Bryan Stevenson

SEPTEMBER 29, 2020

On September 29, join VMware Senior Litigation Counsel Danielle Coleman and COO Sanjay Poonen for a VMworld panel about racial disparities in the U.S. criminal justice system. The two hosts will speak with Bryan Stevenson—social justice advocate, founder of the Equal Justice Initiative, and best-selling author of “Just Mercy”—in a fireside chat that explores his path to helping the incarcerated, and how he is challenging racial discrimination in the criminal justice system.

This conversation will be available immediately in VMworld’s “On-Demand” content section when the conference goes live at 9:00 am PDT on September 29.

Register for free for VMworld here and learn more about this on-demand session here.

Less Than 1 Min Read
