JANUARY 11, 2021

Steve Grimes has been named to China Business Law Journal's (CBLJ) 2020 A-List of China's Top 100 Lawyers (foreign firms). The list recognizes 200 elite private practice lawyers (including 100 lawyers working in PRC law firms and 100 lawyers in international firms) in the Chinese legal market based on feedback from thousands of corporations and in-house counsel in China and around the globe.

Leveraging his unique background as a former U.S. federal prosecutor and a former Chief Compliance Officer for a Fortune 500 multinational company, Steve assists multinational companies with significant operations in China, including those in the most highly-regulated industries such as health care and financial services, with sensitive internal investigations, regulatory inquiries, data security counseling, bet-the-company litigation, as well as with building pragmatic compliance and risk prevention programs. He works closely with the regulatory, compliance, and investigation attorneys at YuandaWinston, Winston's strategic alliance partner in Shanghai, many with prior experience in roles throughout China's judiciary, prosecutor's offices, government agencies and in-house legal department of large corporations, providing pragmatic solutions and strategic values based on first-hand knowledge of China's complex legal, political and regulatory environment.
