Nathan is a litigation associate who focuses his practice on antitrust matters, including the merger review and clearance process, complex litigation, investigations, and regulatory proceedings. Nathan maintains an active antitrust merger review and clearance practice where he assists clients in investigations of mergers and acquisitions before the Federal Trade Commission and the DOJ. Nathan's experience in merger review includes preparation of Hart-Scott-Rodino (HSR) filings, analyzing where foreign competition filings may be required, assisting in the coordination of foreign competition filings, analyzing the reportability of transactions under the HSR Act, analyzing the potential antitrust risk of a transaction and responding to government inquiries and Second Requests to obtain pre-merger approval. He also maintains an active antitrust litigation practice where he assists clients in litigating class actions, competitor lawsuits, coordinating settlement strategies, and other complex multidistrict litigations for both plaintiffs and defendants.

Prior to joining the firm, he was a Judicial Extern for the Honorable Timothy J. Kelly in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, where he drafted orders and opinions and researched legal issues in preparation for oral arguments and orders. He was also a Legal Extern for the Federal Trade Commission in the Mergers I Division, which is primarily responsible for mergers involving health care related industries in Washington D.C.

Nathan is also active in pro bono matters and was a Law Clerk for the Legal Council for Health Justice in Chicago, where he drafted motions and memoranda, and conducted legal research on matters involving Constitutional Law and Administrative Law. His pro bono representations have included tenant, immigration, trusts and estates, and habeas corpus matters.
