

Javeriya Dunn

Director
Business Development - Corporate

New York
+1 212-294-6629

Javeriya leads the strategic branding and visibility initiatives for the firm's Transactions and Corporate Practices. She is passionate about producing high-impact connections between the firm and the marketplace by taking an innovative, technology-first approach to client development that is built on efficiency, data science, technology, and her business and legal acumen.

Javeriya brings over 20 years of experience working at international law firms and consulting companies. In her role as director of business development – corporate, she leads the client development strategy for the firm's U.S. and international transactions practice focusing on branding, sales, and practice development.

Prior to joining the legal industry, Javeriya was a city planner focused on public policy and impact analysis studies for development projects in the private and public sectors. Javeriya currently serves as an adjunct professor at Stony Brook University Graduate School.

Activities

SFNet Marketing Committee

Credentials

EDUCATION

Javeriya received a B.A. from the State University of New York at Stony Brook and an M.A. from New York University.