

Compliance Challenges for Foreign Investment in the U.S.

APRIL 23, 2021

Any opinions in this article are not those of Winston & Strawn or its clients. The opinions in this article are the authors' opinions only.

While the U.S. remains a top destination for foreign investment, certain laws and regulations create challenges for foreigners seeking to conduct business there.

Leaders of Winston & Strawn's Antitrust Practice co-authored the article "Compliance Challenges for Foreign Investment in the U.S." featured in the Asia Business Law Journal's Japan Outbound Investment Guide. The article discusses key challenges companies face when investing in the U.S., and certain antitrust compliance risks that Japanese investors, in particular, may face.

Read the full article here.

View the full guide here.

For more antitrust and competition insights, visit Winston's Competition Corner.

1 Min Read

Related Locations

New York

Washington, DC

Related Topics

China

Foreign Investment

Antitrust and Competition

Related Capabilities

Antitrust/Competition

Related Regions

North America

Related Professionals

Jeffrey Kessler

Eva Cole