Zoe practices general litigation with a focus on intellectual property and complex commercial litigation. She leverages her strong litigation background to serve clients across a variety of industries.

Prior to joining Winston, she served as a judicial extern for the Honorable John Robert Blakey of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Zoe successfully obtained immigration visas for victims of human trafficking as a student attorney for Michigan Law School's Human Trafficking Clinic. Prior to law school, she worked as a litigation paralegal for an international law firm, focusing on securities enforcement and government investigations matters. In that role, she also provided legal support and translation services for over a dozen pro bono immigration matters. Zoe maintains an active pro bono practice in a variety of areas, including civil rights, voting rights, family law, and immigration.
