

The Ever-Expanding Universe of Section 546(e)

OCTOBER 2013

Reprinted with permission from Journal of Corporate Renewal.

Section 546(e) of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code has expanded to the point that every bankruptcy, corporate finance, and M&A practitioner now needs to be intimately familiar with it. Indeed, virtually any transaction now has the potential of being substantially immunized from any fraudulent conveyance and preference exposure.

Less Than 1 Min Read

Related Locations

New York

Related Topics

Bankruptcy Code

Bankruptcy

Restructuring and Insolvency