

Matt Durfee Joins Winston & Strawn in Dallas Office

JULY 31, 2023

Winston & Strawn recently announced the addition of Matt Durfee to the firm's Dallas office, where he joined as a member of the Litigation Department.

An experienced litigator, Matt has appeared in federal and state courts throughout the United States. He focuses his practice on high-stakes commercial litigation for clients in the manufacturing, pharmaceutical, and telecommunications industries. Matt has defended numerous clients against complex product liability claims, including multiple high-profile class actions and multidistrict litigation in various jurisdictions. He also has significant experience representing clients from a wide array of other industries on diverse legal issues ranging from typical breach of contract, negligence, and fraud matters to large-scale government investigations and international disputes.

"Matt's wide-ranging litigation experience representing clients in Texas and across the United States makes him a significant addition to the Dallas office and the firm," said Dallas Office Managing Partner Tom Melsheimer in the press release announcing his arrival. "His longtime collaboration with our new partner, Stephanie Clouston, combined with his work on behalf of critical regional and national industries, means he will provide immediate value to clients."
