

International Trade 2023 Year In Review and Predictions for 2024

JANUARY 4, 2024

Geopolitical tensions and disruptions to the global market have continued to rise in recent years. It should come as no surprise, then, that 2023 saw the rollout of several new trade regulations, sanctions, and enforcement actions. Winston & Strawn's experienced International Trade team reviewed these key U.S.-based developments over the past year and provided an in-depth program highlighting updates in several areas of trade including sanctions, national security and foreign investments, export controls, and anti-corruption. The team also provided a special spotlight on recent actions in China affecting the International Trade market, and their predictions for each of these areas for 2024.

The program, linked below, is designed to be a resource on the key trade areas of most interest to our firm's clients and contacts. It is current as of January 4, 2024. We will continue to update content through our Global Trade & Foreign Policy Insights blog and client alerts. Please contact the presenters or your Winston & Strawn relationship attorney if you have questions or if you are interested in scheduling a tailored program with Winston's International Trade team.

View the presentation slides.

Watch the recording.

PROGRAM RECORDING TIMESTAMPS

00:00:00 – 00:01:26 Introductions

00:01:26 – 00:56:00 Sanctions

00:56:00 – 01:26:00 National Security/Foreign Investment Regulations and Reviews

01:26:00 – 02:02:45 Export Controls

02:02:45 – 02:28:30 U.S. China Trade Relations

02:28:30 – 03:04:35 Anti-Corruption

1 Min Read

Speaker

Cari Stinebower

Dainia Jabaji

J. Tyler McGaughey

David Houck

Tony Busch

Jacob Harding

Mariana Pendás Fernández

Event Information

Watch here

Related Capabilities

International Trade

Related Professionals

J. Tyler McGaughey

Cari Stinebower

Dainia Jabaji

Jacob Harding

Tony Busch

David Houck

Mariana Pendás Fernández