

Winston Expands IP Practice with ITC Partner Alexander Ott

APRIL 1, 2026

Washington, D.C. – April 1, 2026 – Winston & Strawn LLP announced today that Alexander Ott has joined the firm as a partner in the Litigation Department and the International Trade Commission (ITC) Practice in Washington, D.C.

Alex focuses on complex patent disputes and represents clients in high-technology industries, including semiconductor, wireless networking, LED, and software technologies. He has led numerous ITC Section 337 investigations and has represented clients before the Federal Circuit, in inter partes review (IPR) and post-grant review proceedings at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), and in federal district courts. Alex is a registered patent attorney and holds a degree in electrical engineering.

“I’m thrilled to join this exceptionally talented team,” Alex said. “Winston is a market leader in wireless and semiconductor litigation, and the firm’s premier ITC practice aligns perfectly with my focus. I look forward to collaborating with this deep bench to deliver impactful results for clients facing complex cross-border trade challenges.”

“Alex’s extensive experience in high-technology litigation aligns seamlessly with our ITC practice,” Litigation Department Co-Chairs Linda Coberly and Brett Johnson said. “He brings valuable insights that will enhance our active case teams and strengthen our approach to the sophisticated matters we handle.”

“We are excited to welcome Alex to our Washington, D.C. office,” added David Rogers, Washington, D.C. office managing partner. “His arrival reflects our continued strategic growth in the region as we support clients navigating high-stakes issues at the intersection of business, government, and law.”
