

Developments in IP

APRIL 17, 2014

Winston & Strawn hosted an eLunch titled “Developments in IP” on Thursday, April 17, 2014 at 12:15 – 1:30 p.m. (Central).

Revolutionary legislation, precedent-setting court decisions, and evolving technology make it difficult to stay abreast of developments in IP law. Where is the Supreme Court going this term in IP cases? What are the limits of patent protection for software? What new rules may be coming for patent disclosure requirements? What is a famous mark for trademark dilution and trade dress? How does the “first sale doctrine” affect my copyrights? This practical eLunch briefing got listeners like you up to speed on IP developments you need to know now.

Winston & Strawn partner David Enzminger presented an interactive webinar focused on what you need to know about developments in intellectual property.
