

James Lin

Associate

Silicon Valley
+1 650-858-6434

James' previous experience as a systems integration and test engineer gives him a unique perspective that he applies to his practice in patent litigation. He holds a B.S. and M.S. degree in electrical engineering.

James is an intellectual property associate who focuses his practice on patent litigation involving a wide variety of technologies, including Power over Ethernet, wireless networking, multiprocessing, and queuing technology. James has experience litigating patent cases before the International Trade Commission (ITC) and the U.S. District Courts.

Before entering the legal practice, James was a Systems Integration and Test Engineer at Lockheed Martin for five years. His work there included analysis of hardware and software design requirements, hardware and software testing, Reliability, Maintainability, and Availability (RMA) analysis, and systems analysis for control systems.
