

Competition Law Compliance and Global Defense Strategies in the U.S. and European Union

OCTOBER 20, 2016

Winston & Strawn hosted “Competition Law Compliance and Global Defense Strategies in the U.S. and European Union” on October 20, 2016, in the firm’s Shanghai office.

Internationally renowned antitrust/competition lawyers from Winston’s offices in the United States, Europe, and Asia led an interactive discussion of the latest developments in international cartel defense and related competition law issues. Our team, comprised of lawyers based in New York, Washington, D.C., London, and China, addressed issues related to:

- The current regulatory landscapes in the United States and European Union;
- National security reviews of mergers and acquisitions under the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS);
- Recent trends in enforcement activity and related civil litigation, including a discussion of the U.S. Steel case before the International Trade Commission and the recent Vitamin C decision by the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in New York
- Compliance best practices and defense strategies

This program was specifically structured to assist Chinese businesses with operations in the United States and European Union.
