

Contact Your Customers with Confidence: Recent Developments in TCPA Litigation

OCTOBER 4, 2017

Winston & Strawn hosted an eLunch titled “Contact Your Customers with Confidence: Recent TCPA Developments in TCPA Litigation.” This webinar took place on October 4, 2017 at 12:15 p.m. (Central).

If you are in a consumer-facing business, you are probably already aware that contacting your customers, whether by cell phone, residential lines, or even by facsimile, without proper consent can lead to potentially debilitating class action liability under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA). Are you up to speed on the latest litigation trends and developments surrounding this much maligned statute?

This eLunch, led by the Litigation Department, provided a detailed discussion offering insights and answers to the latest TCPA issues keeping media planners, compliance personnel, and in-house legal counsel up at night. Learn what to expect from even the most aggressive plaintiff’s counsel.
