DECEMBER 20, 2017

Litigation Partner Tom Walsh is featured in the Dallas edition of Attorney at Law Magazine, where he discusses his commitment to preparation, passion for the law, and life outside of Winston.

“I enjoy the excitement of a live performance, whether it be on an athletic field or in the courtroom,” says Tom Walsh, a partner in the Dallas office of Winston & Strawn LLP. In addition to his list of satisfied clients as a lawyer, Walsh has created a captive audience with a fan base built over two decades of plying his craft as a sports broadcaster. As a trial lawyer, Walsh’s practice is national in scope. He says the two fields of litigation and sports broadcasting complement each other. “To be a good trial lawyer or a good sports broadcaster you have to have more than a good voice. There’s substantial preparation. But in addition to preparation, you have to be ready to react to the unexpected, and that means thinking quickly on your feet.”
