MARCH 20, 2018

The firm has added a new component to its world-class training programs with the launch of the Winston miniMBA. The training series is designed to teach attorneys practical business skills needed to maintain a competitive edge in today's market.

Core programming will kick off in April with a range of topics from applied financial statement analysis to how outside counsel can assist clients in their efforts to prevent and respond to cybersecurity incidents. All programs will be led by distinguished industry experts and Winston partners, and each training will provide opportunities for hands-on experiential learning.

The miniMBA series is being offered to all Winston attorneys globally, as well as alumni of the firm.
