

Scot J. Farrell

Chief Operating Officer

Washington, DC
+1 202-282-5910

With more than 30 years of experience in administrative leadership roles at major law firms, Scot plays an integral role in helping the firm achieve its strategic growth objectives and expansions into key markets. In his various roles, Scot has overseen several core firm functions, including general operational and administrative management, information services, marketing, knowledge management, facilities management, human resources and finance.

Scot joined Winston & Strawn in 2008 and currently oversees administrative functions of the firm, including general operational, administrative and facilities management, information services, marketing, knowledge management and finance. In addition, Scot plays an integral role in helping the firm achieve its organic and lateral growth objectives and office-location expansions.

Scot has an extensive background in operational management, having worked for more than 30 years in administrative leadership roles at major law firms and other industries. He is also a certified public accountant and personal financial planner.

Recent Experience

Activities

Scot is a member of the Association of Legal Administrators, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, and the Pennsylvania Society of Certified Public Accountants.

---

Credentials

EDUCATION

Scot received a B.S. in Business and Economics from Lehigh University.

Related Insights & News

Scot has been a frequent lecturer for the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Association of Legal Administrators, and various other organizations on subjects relating to law firm profitability, mergers and acquisitions, partner retirement planning, partnership capital and compensation, and economics for newly elected partners.

He also authored a chapter on law firm structure, administrative organization, and profitability, which was published in "Inside the Minds," Aspatore Press (March 2005).