Scott Cohen

Managing Director
E-Discovery & Information Governance

New York
+1 212-294-3558

As the managing director of e-discovery support services, Scott is responsible for all aspects of the firm's litigation support technology, electronic discovery operations, and management of Winston Legal Solutions. With a focus on electronic discovery, records management, and litigation readiness, Scott advises firm lawyers and clients on a wide variety of technical issues relating to discovery in complex litigation.

Throughout his career, Scott has worked in a consultative capacity with law firms and corporate legal departments enabling them to effectively leverage technology in all legal practice areas. Scott is a frequent writer and speaker on a variety of topics ranging from electronic discovery best practices and legal cost control to leadership development, performance management, and staff mentoring in legal organizations.

Prior to joining Winston, Scott was the practice support director for a full-service, international law firm where he was responsible for the development and operation of the firm's practice support department. Scott also served as the director of information technology for MetLife where he was responsible for providing general technology and litigation support services to the corporation's large and geographically dispersed legal, records, and internal audit departments.

Activities

Scott is a certified computer examiner and a member of the International Society of Forensic Computer Examiners.

Scott is also an active member of the International Legal Technology Association Practice & Litigation Support peer group, the Association for Information and Image Management and the American Records Management Association. He is on the Advisory Board for the Association of Certified E-Discovery Specialists (ACEDS).
