

Gino Cheng Presents “How to Structure Licenses to Avoid Patent Exhaustion”

OCTOBER 22, 2015

Associate Gino Cheng presented “Update on Recent U.S. Federal Circuit Briefing: How To Structure Licenses to Avoid Patent Exhaustion” at a Licensing Executives Society Chinese Taipei (LESCT) event on October 22, 2015.

The presentation summarized the positions advanced by the appellant, appellee, and U.S. Government as an amicus in the briefing and October 2, 2015, oral hearing before the Federal Circuit en banc in the pending Lexmark v. Impression Products appeal on the issues of international patent exhaustion and using post-sale restrictions (conditional sales) to thwart domestic exhaustion.

Mr. Cheng’s practice focuses on intellectual property, specifically patent litigation, licensing negotiations, and trademark prosecution.

Less Than 1 Min Read

Related Capabilities

Patent Litigation

IP Licensing & Due Diligence

Related Professionals

Gino Cheng